After many months of planning and hard work the 2009 Lake County Junior Livestock Auction is getting close at hand.

The animals presented for sale to the community have had many hours of intense work and a considerable amount of money invested in them by Lake County youth who are involved in 4-H animal science projects. Beginning with the large beef projects, which were purchased as early as October or November, up to more recently purchased smaller animals such as rabbits, these animals have ALL had lavish attention and the best care possible. Many of our youth support breeding projects within their market project and also show at other junior shows such as the Grand National Stock Show and specialty breed shows.

There are many ways to show support for the 4-H youth involved in market animal projects. One of the biggest ways you can show your support is to be a bidder and a buyer at the Jr. Livestock Auction. The following are examples of how you can buy at the Auction:

☞ Buyer ☞

Buyers who prefer to retain the meat bid a price (usually per lb.) on the animal of your choice against other bidders. The bid amount accepted by the auctioneer is the amount the winning bidder pays, plus process, cutting and wrapping charges.

☞ Resale Buyer ☞

Buyers who prefer to resell the meat bid a price on the animal of your choice. The bid amount accepted by the auctioneer is the sale price. You then consign the animal back to the Lake County Fair and only pay the difference between the bid amount and the current market price. There are no additional processing or cut and wrap charges.

☞ Multiple Buyers per Animal ☞

Two or more individuals may buy an animal together. One person acts as the "Responsible Party" and bids on the animal of their choice. The "Responsible Party" is the buyer for contract purposes and payment collection. Buyers who wish to retain the meat will pay the accepted bid amount plus process, cut and wrap charges. Split of the bid and processing is decided among the multiple buyers themselves. Multiple buyers may also consign the animal back to the Lake County Fair and split between themselves the difference between the bid amount and the current market price.

A delicious barbecue luncheon, will be held prior to the auction for all Buyers Registered for the 2009 Auction (plus 1 guest). Thank you to all of our sponsors for their generous donation of supplies for the luncheon.

To be a Buyer please plan to arrive to register from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday and then enjoy your lunch before the auction. The Buyers' Registration table will be set up in the Livestock Pavilion.

I, the above business/individual have been approached and had the Junior Livestock Auction explained to me by the person whose name appears on this sheet.

I understand that signing this form in no way obligates me to purchase any animal at the Junior Livestock Auction. I am simply helping the member market their project.
